This Tent is hand roped over the roof from eave to eave at every guy, is well reinforced and exceptionally well finished. Walls of slightly lighter weight than the roof. This construction keeps down the cost of the Tent and serves to balance the durability. If full weight walls are required add 10 per cent. to the above prices.

Weights based on Standard 29" material.

If higher walls are required add 10 per cent. per foot.

Flys (double roof) cost 60 per cent. of value of Tent.

The larger sizes are popular as Stable Tents.

21x30	13½	6	151.00	174.80	202.30	229.80	25.00

This Tent is hand roped over the roof from eave to eave at every guy making a particularly strong Tent. Walls of slightly lighter weight than the roof. This construction keeps down the cost of the Tent and serves to balance the durability. If full weight walls are required add 10 per cent. to the above prices.

Weights based on Standard 29" material.

It is extensively used as Dining and Office Tent and the larger sizes make excellent stable accommodation for about 8 or 10 horses.

STABLE TENTS

Size	Wall	12-oz.	12-oz. Army	15oz. Army Roof 12oz. Army Walls	Poles and Pegs and Long Guya
28x32	6	$278.50	$314.25	$389.25	$50.00

28x56	6	407.50	467.75	555.50	78.00

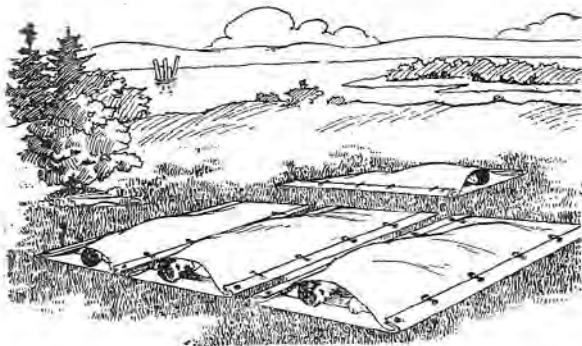

These Tents are made with 6ft. walls on sides and 7ft. walls on ends in order that the doors may open 7ft. high.

Weights based on Standard 29" material.

All Stable Tents are made with four doors and are full roped around caves and over the roof from eave to eave at regular intervals, either every 7ft. or every 8ft., according to the length of the Tent. For example, a 40ft. Tent is roped every 8ft., making 5 sections, while a 42ft. Tent is roped every 7ft., making 6 sections. Walls of slightly lighter weight than the roof. This construction keeps down the cost of the Tent and serves to balance the durability. If full weight walls are required add 10 per cent. to the above prices.

LATERAL ARM AWNINGS

Lateral Arm Awnings are specially designed for low fronts or where it is desirable to hang the Awnings below the prism lights.

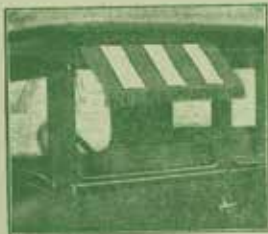

As may be seen from the cut, these Awnings hang entirely from the top, thereby eliminating extension rods and troublesome slide rods.

These arms are used only with Roller Awnings and may be operated with either chain or cog gear.

Note the compact fold of this arm. When awning is rolled up the arm folds flat against the roller presenting a very neat appearance.
